

THE ELECTION AND REGISTRATION.

Only two days more are left in which the opportunity of registering before the city elections take place will be afforded the citizens of Memphis. We respectfully urge those of our friends who have not yet availed themselves of this privilege to do so to-morrow. We confidently believe in the election of the people's candidate, Major J. J. Busby, but we are anxious that the sound non-party position occupied by that gentleman, should be followed by the largest majority ever given to a candidate for mayor in the city of Memphis. Major Busby is the candidate of the people, and when he is mayor all classes of the people will find his friend, ready at all times to advance their material interests, and to defend their rights. He knows what those interests and those rights are, and can confidently and truly say to the whole people of this city, that he will foster and promote those interests and defend their rights, and that he will make the office of mayor a place in which to foster the happiness and prosperity of the whole city. The great mass of the voters should recognize, in the fact that he is no partisan candidate, no tool and nominee of any political ring, the best and surest guarantee that he will stand by the whole people, no matter what this or that hungry politician may say or do. The people of Memphis, without distinction of party, should rally to the support of Busby, to rebuke those unprincipled men who want to force themselves into office in order to make money. These men were present when Busby was nominated, and because he would not consent to make the office of mayor a place in which to plunder the city, and under the pretence of public improvement, give them a chance of making fortunes out of the masses belonging to the hard-working people, these politicians and scoundrels dominated themselves, and are trying now to impose upon the honest voters by every species of misrepresentation. But though they are facile in their misrepresentation, they are not so facile in their execution. They have not yet been able to get any other objection to Major Busby than that he is an honest and respectable man! And they have the effrontery to tell the honest and respectable workmen of Memphis, that because Busby is honest and respectable they should vote against him. But we know from the first, that with all their experience in the game of misrepresentation, notwithstanding their double-dealing and shrewd management, they have attempted to make when they tried to deceive the honest voters of Memphis. The time has passed when any class of men are to be led by like lambs to the slaughter, by this or that politician, though never so cool, shrewd and long-headed; and those men who are trying to force themselves by dint of partisan wire-working upon the people, will find that they have counted upon the wrong side. Already are evidences multiplying that the people are prepared to ignore the dishonesty as opposed to the only gammon of the wire-pullers. They know that Busby has no other ambition than to make them a good, honest and efficient public servant, one who will be ready at all times to do that which is for the general good of the city, regarding the interests of all her people alike, and not one with an army of followers to reward at the polls of the people. Hence, we have the best assurance in the convictions of the people of Busby's success. To make assurance doubly sure, let all our friends who have not yet registered do so to-morrow, and we will deem the first great step taken which will redeem Memphis out of the hands of the politicians, and place her on the high road to a glorious future.
